THE ROLE of the BUSINESS SECTOR in a JUST TRANSITION

- Ensure that your core values are reflected with your business practices, your business model and your relationships with your employees, customers and other businesses
- Actively engage with the social movements in your community so that you can be a participating stakeholder in campaign strategy and communication
- Leverage your economic power and standing as a local business to advance the policies and initiatives that build healthy and thriving communities
- Organize and mobilize other businesses in your community as a force for good
